

Dearest Suzanna,

I LOVE YOU. I would not want to be like every other couple who do not say these words as many times they wish to owing to what I can never understand. I would colour our relationship each and every time with these words. Not that our love fades even by a minuscule level, but this shall strengthen the colours of our love. So,

I LOVE YOU.

You have given me everything. You have completed my life; given me such a wonderful family and everything which I have would never have been possible without you. However, the only thing which I can offer to you in return is love, love for lifetime.

I shall love you until the time ends and even after it. My love shall never be subdued by any other thing but for your love. Times may come and go; I will continue to love you forever.

Your love,

James
