

My Dearest Isabella,

I believe this letter may not come to you as a surprise, rather as a golden chain of fate. I am writing to win your love and before I continue, I should like to introduce myself to you.

Jacob Brown is my name, the Director of Modern Secondary School in Fremont.

I first saw you in the Central Bank and I was very much awed by the way you regarded customers. In addition to this, your chic and smart movement and cheerful face are among the reasons why I ask for your love.

You know there are a lot of girls in Fremont but yet I choose to love you. For that reason, please do not disregard my letter and never let down a true heart asking for your love.

I beg to close and with all pleasure I'm waiting for your vital and approving reply.

Yours truly,

Jacob Brown
