

Sample Love Letter

To My One and Only on Valentines Day,

You will probably be surprised to receive a letter like this from me but I didn't know what else to do. Thoughts of you had been constantly running in my head throughout the past night. Every time I think of you, I am struck with a tidal torrent of emotions that I simply cannot vocalize. It is for this reason that I sit down to attempt to put words to my feelings.

I do not know what I have ever done to deserve having you come into my life. You are the greatest, the sweetest, the most genuine, and the most loving person I have ever met. I not only love you, but I truly respect you and hold you in deepest admiration. I do not know how to express my gratitude, but all I know is to love you now and forever and keep you forever in the most sacred sanctions of my heart. I would be lost without you. You complete me and I thank you for embracing me with your love.

Sincerest regards,
